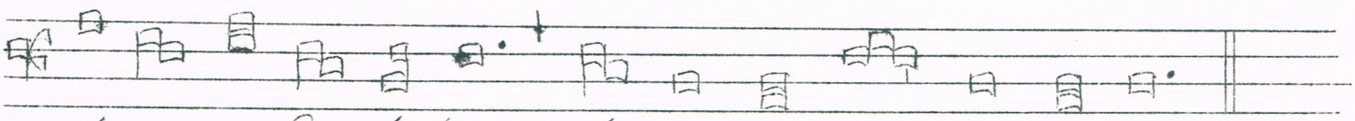
(Hear, O Judge of the dead and sole hope of the living, hear



vó-ces pro-fe-réntum Dó-num pá-cis prae-ví-um. O Redemptor
(their voice who bring forth a gift that heralds peace.)

℣. Arbor foeta alma luce hoc sacrandum protulit: fert hoc prona praesens turba Salvatori saeculi.
℟. O Redemptor sume.....

℣. A tree rich with bountiful light produced this oil for sacring; how reverently they bear it now to the Saviour of the world.
℟. Accept this song.....

℣. Stans ad aram immo supplex infulatus Pontifex, debitum persolvit omne, consecrato Chrismate.
℟. O Redemptor sume.....

℣. Suppliant before the altar stands the Pontiff in his robes: this his one intention, the Chrism to consecrate.
℟. Accept this song...

℣. Consecrare tu dignare: Rex perennis patriae, hoc olivum, signum vivum, jura contra daemonum.
℟. O Redemptor sume.....

℣. King of our eternal homeland, deign to consecrate this oil as active sign against every demon's claim.
℟. Accept this song.....

.....

℟. O Redemptor, sume carmen temet concin-entium.

℟. Accept this song, Redeemer, that we all sing to Thee.

℣. Ut novetur sexus omnis unctione Chrismatis: ut sanetur sauciata dignitatis gloria.
℟. O Redemptor.....

℣. May all of either sex be renewed by anointing with Chrism; may the wounded glory of man's dignity be healed.
℟. Accept this song.....

℣. Lota mente sacro fonte aufugantur crimina, uncta fronte, sacro-sancta influunt charismata.
℟. O Redemptor.....

℣. Every sin flees from a soul washed in the holy fount; holy and sacred gifts flow in when the brow is anointed.
℟. Accept this song....

℣. Corde natus ex Parentis alvum implens Virginis, praesta lucem, claude mortem Chrismatis consortibus.
℟. O Redemptor.....

℣. Born from Thy Parent's heart, fruit of the Virgin's womb; on those who share Thy Chrism, shed light, and shield from death.
℟. Accept this song.....

℣. Sit haec dies festa nobis saeculorum saeculis: sit sacrata digna laude, nec senescat tempore.
℟. O Redemptor.....

℣. Let this day be festive unto every age: worthy of praise, and sacred: never growing stale.
℟. Accept this song.....
